ARMY MEDICAL LIBRARY REQUIREMENTS FOR REQUESTS FOR SERVICE

The microfilm copying service of the Army Medical Library is concerned chiefly with the dissemination of literature in the library's collection. Upon request, single articles are copied from periodicals and other publications. Through this medium, the resources of the greatest medical library in the country are brought to any scientist, regardless of geographical location.

The popularity of this service has resulted in the need for certain requirements for making requests. Briefly stated they are:

1) Not over 15 references should be sent in at one time. A new list may be sent as each previous list is received in film form by the person requesting. This will enable us to provide better service to more people and to expedite the filming. Long lists inevitably retard the assembling of the items requested, each of which must be carefully checked by the reference staff, already overburdened by other war demands.

2) All requests must be in duplicate. The duplicate copy is used for a reply to indicate material not available.

3) All references should be numbered in the order in which they appear on your list and arranged alphabetically under the title of the publication. A reference should be given thus: title of publication, volume, complete pagination and year, author's full name and title of article. It is preferred that the title of the publication be listed on a separate line similar to the examples given below:

- 1) American Heart Journal 10:1-10, 1944.
Jones, A.A., Sulfanilamide.
- 2) American Medical Association Journal 125:1-10, 1944.
Smith, S. Vitamin C. Studies.
- 3) Johns Hopkins Hospital, Bulletin 74: 161-176.
Bing, R.J. Hemoglobin and Renal Functions.

While not required, it is helpful, when the reference is taken from the Current List of Medical Literature, if the date, column, and alphabetical section from which the item is taken, is given.

(The above article is reprinted from the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association 108: 335, 1945)

CURRENT LIST OF MEDICAL LITERATURE is published weekly and lists of RECENT BOOK ACQUISITIONS are issued several times per year as supplements. The subscription price for both is $5.00 per year in the United States and $5.50 per year in other countries. The Recent Book Acquisitions may be obtained separately at $1.00 per year.
